

REGISTERING A COMPLAINT

As a self-regulating profession, Manitoba Chiropractors Association (MCA) has statutory obligations for public safety. There are several roles and committees responsible to the seven-member MCA Board of Directors. This includes a legislatively mandated Complaints Committee, an Investigations Chair, Investigators, members of an Inquiry panel, members of the public and MCA staff who assist with complaints and discipline.

There are two members of the MCA Board of Directors who are also members of the public; one is appointed by the provincial government and the other by the Board after a public call for interest. Public protection is further enhanced by the mandatory regulatory committees and the work of our Registrar.

Despite the precautions noted above, you may sometimes be dissatisfied with the service, care, attitude or conduct of your chiropractor. If this is the case, you should feel that you can discuss the matter with your chiropractor in an open and forthright manner. Advising your chiropractor of your concerns may help to resolve the issue and increase your satisfaction with subsequent care.

However, if the issue cannot be resolved through discussion, or if you feel discussion is not appropriate, you have the right to file a formal complaint. A Complaint Reporting Form is provided for your use.

We know the complaint process can be stressful for both the complainant and the chiropractor. Our process is designed to protect the public, while providing a fair hearing for the chiropractor.

Once the written complaint is received by the MCA, it is immediately forwarded to either the Chair of the Complaints Committee or, depending on the allegation, to the Investigations Chair. The member will receive a copy of the complaint and must respond within ten days. Information from the member's response may be shared with the complainant during the processing of the complaint.

The Complaints Committee reviews the complaint and works to resolve it, if possible. If the Committee is unable to resolve it, the complaint is moved to the Investigations Chair.

The Investigation Chair reviews the complaint, arranges a preliminary investigation and reviews evidence from appointed investigators. The Investigation Chair may facilitate a resolution to the matter by obtaining a professional undertaking by the member or the Investigation Chair may report to the MCA Board of Directors with a recommendation that no further action be taken or that the matter be forwarded to an Inquiry.

An Inquiry is made up of four members of the profession and one member of the public. After hearing the case, the Inquiry Committee's final judgment is sent to the MCA Board of Directors to dismiss or determine orders, penalties, undertakings, suspension, and discipline. The Registrar then carries out and/or monitors undertakings, conditions, discipline, and suspensions.

The complaints process of the MCA is not a court of law. In filing a complaint, the complainant is asking the MCA to investigate the care and/or professional behavior provided by a chiropractor. The MCA cannot order a chiropractor to provide a patient with financial compensation. Patients seeking financial compensation should seek legal advice.

REGISTERING A COMPLAINT

A bona fide complaint to the MCA is not actionable. This means that you cannot be sued for what you state in a complaint, if it has been directed only to the MCA, and provided that the complaint is not made in bad faith or for an ulterior purpose.

The time to complete an investigation will vary, depending on the complexity of the complaint and the timeliness in which responses are received. Please note that information may be requested from other individuals who have been identified as part of the Investigation. In some cases, an expert opinion may be sought.
